

The Greenbrier Companies today announced the appointment of Joseph K. Wilsted as senior vice president & chief financial officer, effective immediately. He will succeed Larry G. Brady, who is retiring from the CFO position but will remain in a consulting role to ensure a seamless transition. Mr. Wilsted joined Greenbrier in October 2005 as senior vice president, operations and corporate development.

Prior to joining Greenbrier, Joe Wilsted was with publicly held Ingersoll Rand since 2003, where he was vice president & chief financial officer of Bobcat, a $2.1 billion in revenue division which manufactures loaders and work vehicles. Prior to Bobcat, Wilsted held the position of President, Rexnord Chain and Conveyor Group; President, Rexnord Stearns; and Managing Director Asia Pacific, Invensys Building Systems. He has international work experience in over two dozen countries including manufacturing operations in Asia, Europe and Latin America, as well as financial responsibilities worldwide with both Bobcat and Invensys Climate Control.

"Joe brings a unique set of manufacturing, operating and financial skills and international experience in various senior management positions over the last 15 years, which make him ideally suited for this position," said William A. Furman, president and chief executive officer. "Since joining Greenbrier as a senior manager in October 2005, Joe has worked with Larry Brady, our senior management team, and me defining new metrics to increase operating efficiency and shareholder value.

"Larry Brady, who is 66, joined Greenbrier in 1991 and has been CFO of the Company since 1994, the year we became publicly held. His relationship with the Company dates back to early in Greenbrier's history, when he was audit partner at Touche Ross in the early 1980s. The stability and professionalism of our financial operations during his tenure has been one of the strengths of the Company. We are grateful for his many contributions and the sound financial reporting and accounting that have been and shall remain a characteristic of Greenbrier. Larry will move to a consulting role with the company, where his services will remain available for a seamless transition."
